Wound Care

Studies show that wounds heal faster with specialized nursing care. Lifetime Care's wound care specialists have earned national certification in wound, ostomy, and continence nursing.

Specialists Improve Outcomes

Our highly educated Wound Ostomy Continence Nurses (WOCNs) and specially trained home care nurses utilize protocols and guidelines that monitor the entire wound healing process and update treatment accordingly to promote healing and recovery. The wealth of knowledge possessed by our wound care specialists provides treatment using the most effective methods available, giving patients confidence in healing and comfort knowing they are being cared for by the very best.

The wound care program assists patients in reaching their goals and attaining functional independence. Our wound care team will teach patients which supplies and products are best for their condition, and ensure that they have a full understanding of all steps involved in the healing process.

Specialized Services:

- Effective treatment for incisional wounds, cellulitis, grafts, burns, surgical wounds, ostomies (including colostomies, ileostomies, urostomies and gastrostomies), and lower extremity ulcers (including venous, arterial, diabetic and pressure ulcers)
- Referrals to on-site certified lymphedema specialists
- Pre-operative stomasiting and education
- Digital photography used for wound evaluation and communication with physicians
- State-of-the-art wound care modalities including advanced wound care products and negative pressure wound therapy (VAC)

"This is a wonderful program; without the excellent care of the nurses my recovery would have been much longer. Home care helps not only physical well being, but also mental well being! Thank you!"
